

About the Mushroom Society:

The Mushroom Society was established several years ago by a group of NFL offensive line coaches. The mushroom logo signifies the similarity between the "O-Line" coach and the fungus. Both are kept in the dark and fed garbage yet continue to flourish! C.O.O.L. (Coaches of Offensive Linemen) are proud to be mushrooms. Come, join us, and enjoy the clinic!

Dear Coach,

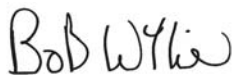

The Annual Offensive Line Clinic will be held May 19 & 20, 2017 at the Millennium Hotel in Cincinnati, Ohio. The Clinic has been a tremendous success since its inception. The schedule for the clinic is enclosed, it is two days of non-stop football with presentations of some of the greatest minds in college and professional football today.

The clinic was designed to cover basic offensive line play, fundamentals, and techniques with emphasis on the Run Game and Pass Protection. You DO NOT need to be an offensive line coach to attend this clinic. Topics discussed will have valuable application to coaches of any position, offense or defense.

This year we would like you to send in your favorite OL drill on DVD or Video Tape when registering for the clinic and we will compile an outstanding clinic drill DVD to help coaches of all levels prepare for the fall football season of 2017. So Please send one with your registration.

Last year's clinic attendees included representatives from 176 Colleges, 128 high schools, and from 34 different states, and two countries. The clinic provides a convention like meeting place for offensive line coaches before and after the clinic. This has become a great place to network with other coaches in the profession! Start Making plans to attend this year's clinic May 19 & 20, 2017.

Sincerely

Bob Wylie
